

Summer 1910
$300

By Way of Introduction.

LADIES,—

Summer is gradually drawing closer, there is a hum of excitement in the air, one catches murmurs of garden parties, races, picnics, and last but not least—clothes in every conversation. And what clothes—they range from the airiest fairest materials to the ever useful linen, and run through a whole gamut of shades and colors. No one should be unbecomingly dressed this season—there are such varieties of tints—least of all the Australian girl, who, with instinctive good taste, realises instantly what or what not to wear.

COSTUMES.

The Magyar blouse, which has been so popular, is taking a new lease of life in a modified form, the original severe style being now considered out of date, and its place taken by a dainty presentment with a decollete neck filled in with a net yoke, and a short sleeve, finished with a small net puff ending in a band below the elbow. Skirts are gradually assuming fuller proportions—the hobble skirt—as it is most inartistically called—proving both unbecoming and uncomfortable, they have never been seriously adopted by women of the best style, although there are always people willing to go in for anything in the way of exaggeration. Smart and not too extreme styles abound in our new showrooms. Costumes to suit everyone at prices that should tempt the economical are illustrated in this book of good things. We can make any garment to your own special measurements if you will fill in the forms to be found at the end of the book, and quote the number of the style you fancy.

MILLINERY.

The millinery of the moment is a thing of ephemerality, the lightest and daintiest bows of lace and tulle; roses looking as if a breath would cause them to shed their petals, in conjunction with the most delicate shades in straw make these hats certainly things of beauty. Cornflowers are proving a very fashionable trimming this season, also roses in every size and shape as well as trails of various small flowers such as marguerites, daisies, buttercups, etc.; osprey grass is another innovation this season. Veiled effects in hats have had a very transitory vogue, for, although very pretty, they were also very frail, consequently hats so treated grew shabby in a very short space of time. Tagel straw is, without doubt, first favourite; but its price, unfortunately, is a bit prohibitive. However, those with limited incomes will find a large variety of shapes and straws to choose from at Foy's. Amongst the former may be mentioned the Improved Mushroom shape, San-toi, and the new sailor shape. These are mostly trimmed with large bows of wide ribbon, sometimes as much as a dozen yards being used for one hat. This, of course, runs into money, and a very efficient substitute may be found in wide glaze silk, cut into strips and hemmed on each side. This does not require such a quantity, and is consequently cheaper.

Gloves.

The dyers' art has been carried to such a pitch of perfection that it is now possible to procure one's gloves to match any frock, and it is these little details which proclaim the carefully thought out costume, and give the exquisite finish which is always the hall mark of the woman of good taste. Of course, there are still some who prefer white, black or pale biscuit shades in gloves, and wisely so, as people with large hands should be very wary of choosing colors, some of them making the hands look noticeably larger: black gloves always give a smart touch to a light colored frock, especially if there is a hint of black in the trimming.

Hosiery and Underclothing.

Here again it is possible to match one's costume to a degree, and the exquisite hosiery shown this season cannot fail to delight the heart of the dainty dresser. Lace stockings are very rarely seen, the fascinations of the plain stocking with a woven design in contrasting colors having proved insuperable. The underclothing, too, is exquisite, and while fashioned of masses of filmy laces by no means adds to the slim silhouette at present so much sought after by the woman of fashion. Foy's underclothing factory is making a speciality of turning out underwear, which for fit and finish is unsurpassable, and as space forbids us to give a detailed description of the many dainty garments here; we must refer you to the section devoted to them in another part of this book.

Laces and Trimmings.

For those who make their own clothes either from choice or from necessity, Foy's have selected a range of laces and trimmings this season that should meet with every demand, either with regard to style or quality.

For underclothing, one has a choice from the finest handmade torchons to the imitation, from the filmiest muslin embroidery to its cambric counterpart; and for those who prefer it, there is a wide range of Valenciennes. The dress trimmings are so exquisite, that but a small piece will convert the plainest gown into a thing of beauty; the softest colorings possible are blended, and their beauty accentuated by touches of gold, silver or aluminium, as the case might be, forming fitting accompaniments to the soft, silky materials which are so much worn this season. The leading shades are blues of every tone, old rose, amethyst, and as usual, black and white, either singly or together, have a goodly following. Silks this season, are soft and easily draped, in order to conform to the edicts of fashion, and are to be procured in the most entrancing shades. Shot effects are liked by some, and the range in these runs from the most daring to the faintest combination of shades.

Ladies' & Children's Boots & Shoes.

Your attention is directed to a magnificent make of ladies' boots and shoes, for which Mark Foy's, Ltd., are sole agents. These are the famous Queen Quality brand, America's most fashionable and up-to-date footwear. Not only are these smart to look at, but their wearing qualities are such that they look smart to the end, and are as comfortable as they are good-looking. There are other makes, such as Woolf's and Pingree and Smith's, for people who know and prefer these well-known brands, also an assortment of house shoes, bedroom slippers, etc., of every type and description.

Sewing Machines.

This is a subject which interests everyone, for a sewing machine is a much-sought-after possession, and one which merits a good deal of consideration before the purchasing thereof. Keeping this in view, Mr. Foy has secured a machine which is reliable, is fitted with all the latest and most up-to-date appliances and is still within the means of everyone. A detailed description of both the Hyde Park and the Piazza will be found in another part of this book, giving much information to anyone requiring such. The makers' warranty is proof of their confidence in the wear and stability of these machines.

Household Linens.

This is a department necessary of mention, although the quality of the linens at Foy's is so well known. There is, of course, a complete price list included in this book, but even that does not deter us from expatiating on the many exquisite fabrics to be obtained in this department. The table damasks are both dainty in texture and exclusive in design; the drapery is up-to-date, both in patterns and materials, and the thousand and one other household necessities are offered at the well-known values which compare so favorably with any other house in the city.

Furniture, Ironmongery, Crockery, &c.

Sooner or later one must replenish and renew in both of these departments, and here, as in every other department, you cannot do better than sample Foy's values and prices before looking elsewhere. There is to be found furniture suitable for the cottage or the mansion; carpets and floor-coverings to suit both the purse and the fancy of the purchaser; and every possible labor-saving item in kitchen-ware and general ironmongery. Crockery and glassware are always necessary of renewal, and Foy's prices in these lines make breakages less expensive.

In Conclusion.

In compiling this book we have endeavoured to portray some of the fashionable and useful things obtainable at Mark Foy's, at prices that should help your selection to be larger than heretofore. Nowadays it is not necessary to journey to town for your purchase, be it jewellery or needles. We undertake full responsibility when we ask you to leave your shopping to us. A postcard to us for patterns of any material required shall have immediate attention. We rely on our good values securing the business. When next you visit Sydney come and see us. We shall not press you to buy. Just come and look on The Piazza as your "Home from Home."

THE BEST BOOKS TO READ.

When I consider what some books have done for the world, and what they are doing, how they keep up our hope, awaken new courage and faith, soothe pain, give an ideal life to those whose hours are cold and hard, bind together distant ages and foreign lands, create new worlds of beauty, bring down Truth from Heaven; I give eternal blessings for this gift, and thank God for Books.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT YOUR SIGHT.

You should carefully read the following facts, which will briefly describe some of the more common defects of vision. It will help you to understand why and when glasses should be worn—very important things to know. You owe a solemn duty to yourself and those under your charge in respect to the care of the eyes.

IS YOUR HEALTH UNSATISFACTORY?

ARE YOU A MARTYR TO HEADACHES?

IS READING A STRAIN?

DO YOU SQUINT?

HAVE YOU A DULL OR BACKWARD CHILD?

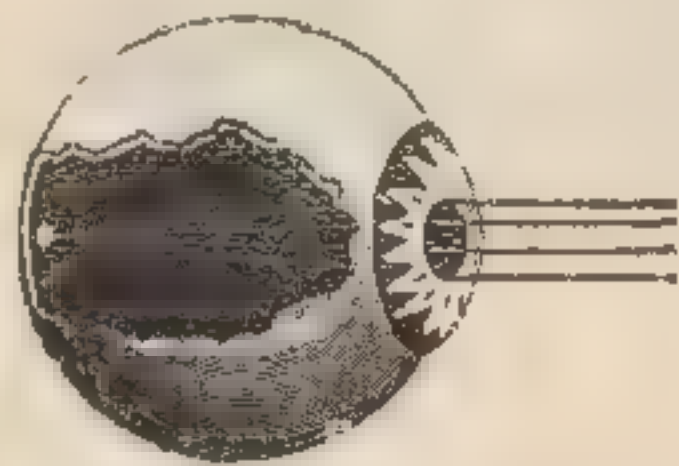

If so, consult the best opticians at your command, realising that you are now concerned with your most valuable sense, and that only the very best advice is good enough.

Our Offer.

MARK FOY'S, LTD., have lately opened a consulting room equipped with the latest and best appliances for sight-testing enabling you to be fitted with the greatest precision.

Our Expert, Mr. W. G. Kett, Opt. D., who is a graduate optometrist, will personally examine your eyes by the very latest and most scientific methods, free of charge, and will honestly advise you, should you require medical treatment before supplying you with glasses.

We are experts at our business, and offer you the most scientific workmanship and highest-grade material obtainable. Our frames and lens are only the very best made. We stock but one quality of lenses, the best procurable, and these are fitted to all frames irrespective of charge. Our prices are positively the lowest in Sydney, and we invite you to call and give us an opportunity to prove the absolute honesty of our values.

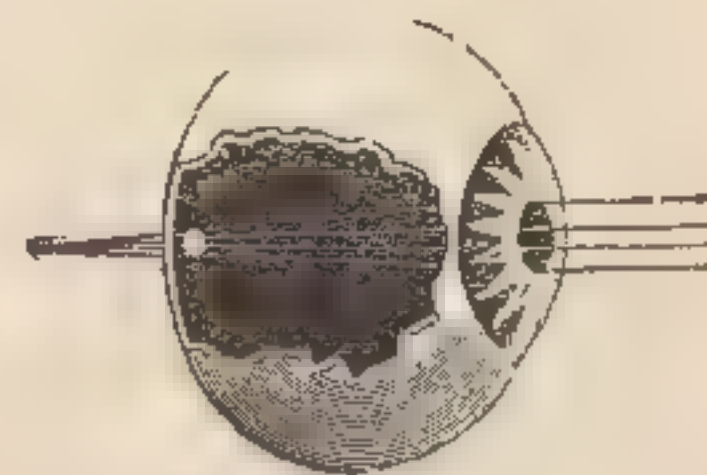

All are agreed that sight is our most valuable sense, and that the eye is a most delicately constructed organ, easily injured and very deceptive, in that it often seems "all right" when it is very much wrong.

Science has definitely traced many of our daily ills to physical defects in that organ. Eye-strain—the result of these defects—is the cause of headache, neuralgia, sleeplessness, squint, and many disorders of the digestive system, such as biliousness. If you have any of these symptoms, you should have your eyes thoroughly examined at once.

Common Defects of the Eye.

HYPERMETROPIA (Long Sight).

Hypermetropia is one of the most common of visual defects. It is caused by the eyeball being too short from front to back, and as rays of light entering a hypermetropic eye do not come to a focus on the back of the eye, but behind it, a blurred image is the result. To overcome this, the Hypermetrope accommodates his eye by using his ciliary muscles, and as this can only be maintained at the expense of a great amount of nervous energy—eyestrain is the result.

You may imagine your sight is all right because you can see clearly at a distance as well as close at hand, but you may be maintaining clear vision by the use of your ciliary muscles, and this is the cause of headaches, neuralgia, indigestion, biliousness, inflammation of the lids, inward squint, or print and sewing becoming blurred after a short time. These are some of the more general symptoms of Hypermetropia.

MYOPIA (Short Sight).

Myopia is the directly opposite condition to Hypermetropia, being caused by the eyeball being too long from front to back with the result that rays of light entering the eye come to a focus before reaching the back of the eye, and again a blurred image is formed.

Unlike the Hypermetrope, the Myope cannot accommodate his eye by the use of his ciliary muscles, as this would make his defect worse. Though distant objects may appear blurred, yet he may be able to read the smallest print close to his eyes.

Myopia is a dangerous defect, as it has a tendency to increase, and if not checked by suitable lenses, total blindness will supervene. Failure to recognise faces across a street, partly closing the eyes, outward squint, holding reading matter and sewing close to the eyes, and occasional headaches are the most common symptoms of this defect, which, if not properly treated, becomes a disease.

ASTIGMATISM (Indistinct Vision).

Astigmatism is by far the most common defect of all, and is caused by the irregular curvature of the front of the eye—the cornea—and of the lens. This is an almost universal defect, appearing in practically every eye, otherwise we should see stars as round lights, instead of with points. As the curves may be either too round or too flat, we get various defects, and the same eye may be long-sighted in one meridian and short-sighted in the other. When this defect is sufficiently marked to cause ill effects or blurred vision, it must be carefully measured and correctly fitted with specially-ground lenses. Astigmatism is also responsible for many complications similar to those due to Hypermetropia.

PRESBYOPIA (Old Sight).

Presbyopia cannot be called a visual defect, as it is a natural change which takes place in every eye without exception.

It is caused by a loss of elasticity of the crystalline lens and the diminished power of the ciliary muscles, and so the power of accommodation is weaker, and close work, such as reading and sewing, is only done with difficulty. The change takes place at the age of about forty. Reading is held further from the eyes than is natural, and cannot be maintained for long. Headaches, drowsiness, etc., are the result if not correctly fitted with glasses, and if left uncorrected, presbyopia may cause many troublesome symptoms.

INSTRUCTIONS.

Before commencing the test, the following instructions must be carefully studied.

DISTANCE TEST.

Pin the Distance Test Chart at a distance of 20ft. (on a wall) level with the eyes. In selecting a position, care must be taken to have the chart well lighted and the source of light at the observer's back.

Note which line can be read, (1) with both eyes, (2) with right eye, (3) with left eye.

READING TEST.

With source of illumination behind you, hold the reading test types 12 inches from the eyes, and note which type can be most comfortably read without straining. If you cannot read any at this distance, state what you can read at any other distance (or with the help of your glasses, which must be sent down with answers if used in carrying out test).

State particulars of style of glasses you require, such as curl sides, straight sides, or pince-nez, and quality of frame.

Answer questions thus:—Answer to question No. 1

READING CHART.

A person, on finding his vision defective, or on experiencing any discomfort with his eyes, should at once consult a practical and competent optician: neglect may lead to serious injury. Moreover the comfort and pleasure of getting back to normal sight after the vision has become impaired, even if there has been no direct consciousness of the defect, cannot be realised until experienced.

It is especially important that children's sight should be carefully tested. Little ones are often backward at school and counted as dullards, when the real reason is to be

We make no charge for testing your sight unless suited. Should defective vision be disclosed it should be

The following Questions must be carefully answered, numbered, and sent to us.

- No. 1. Describe very clearly the complaints for which you require glasses as a remedy.
- No. 2. Have you worn glasses before, and if so, for what purpose?
- No. 3. What is your age?
- No. 4. For what purpose do you now require glasses? For constant wear, or for close work, such as reading, etc.?
- No. 5. Placing the distance test chart at 20 feet, what is the lowest line you can read (a) with both eyes, (b) with right eye, (c) with left eye?
- No. 6. Holding the Reading Chart at 12 inches, what is the smallest type you can read comfortably? If you are unable to see any of the type distinctly at that distance, state what is the closest distance from the eye you can read types 1, 2 or 3.
- No. 7. Measure the distance between your pupils when looking at a distance, and state whether the bridge of your nose is high or flat.

NOTE.—If possible, send along glasses previously worn, and give any other particulars which you may consider of use to us. Glasses must not be used in carrying out above tests.

THE "HYDE PARK" SEWING MACHINE.

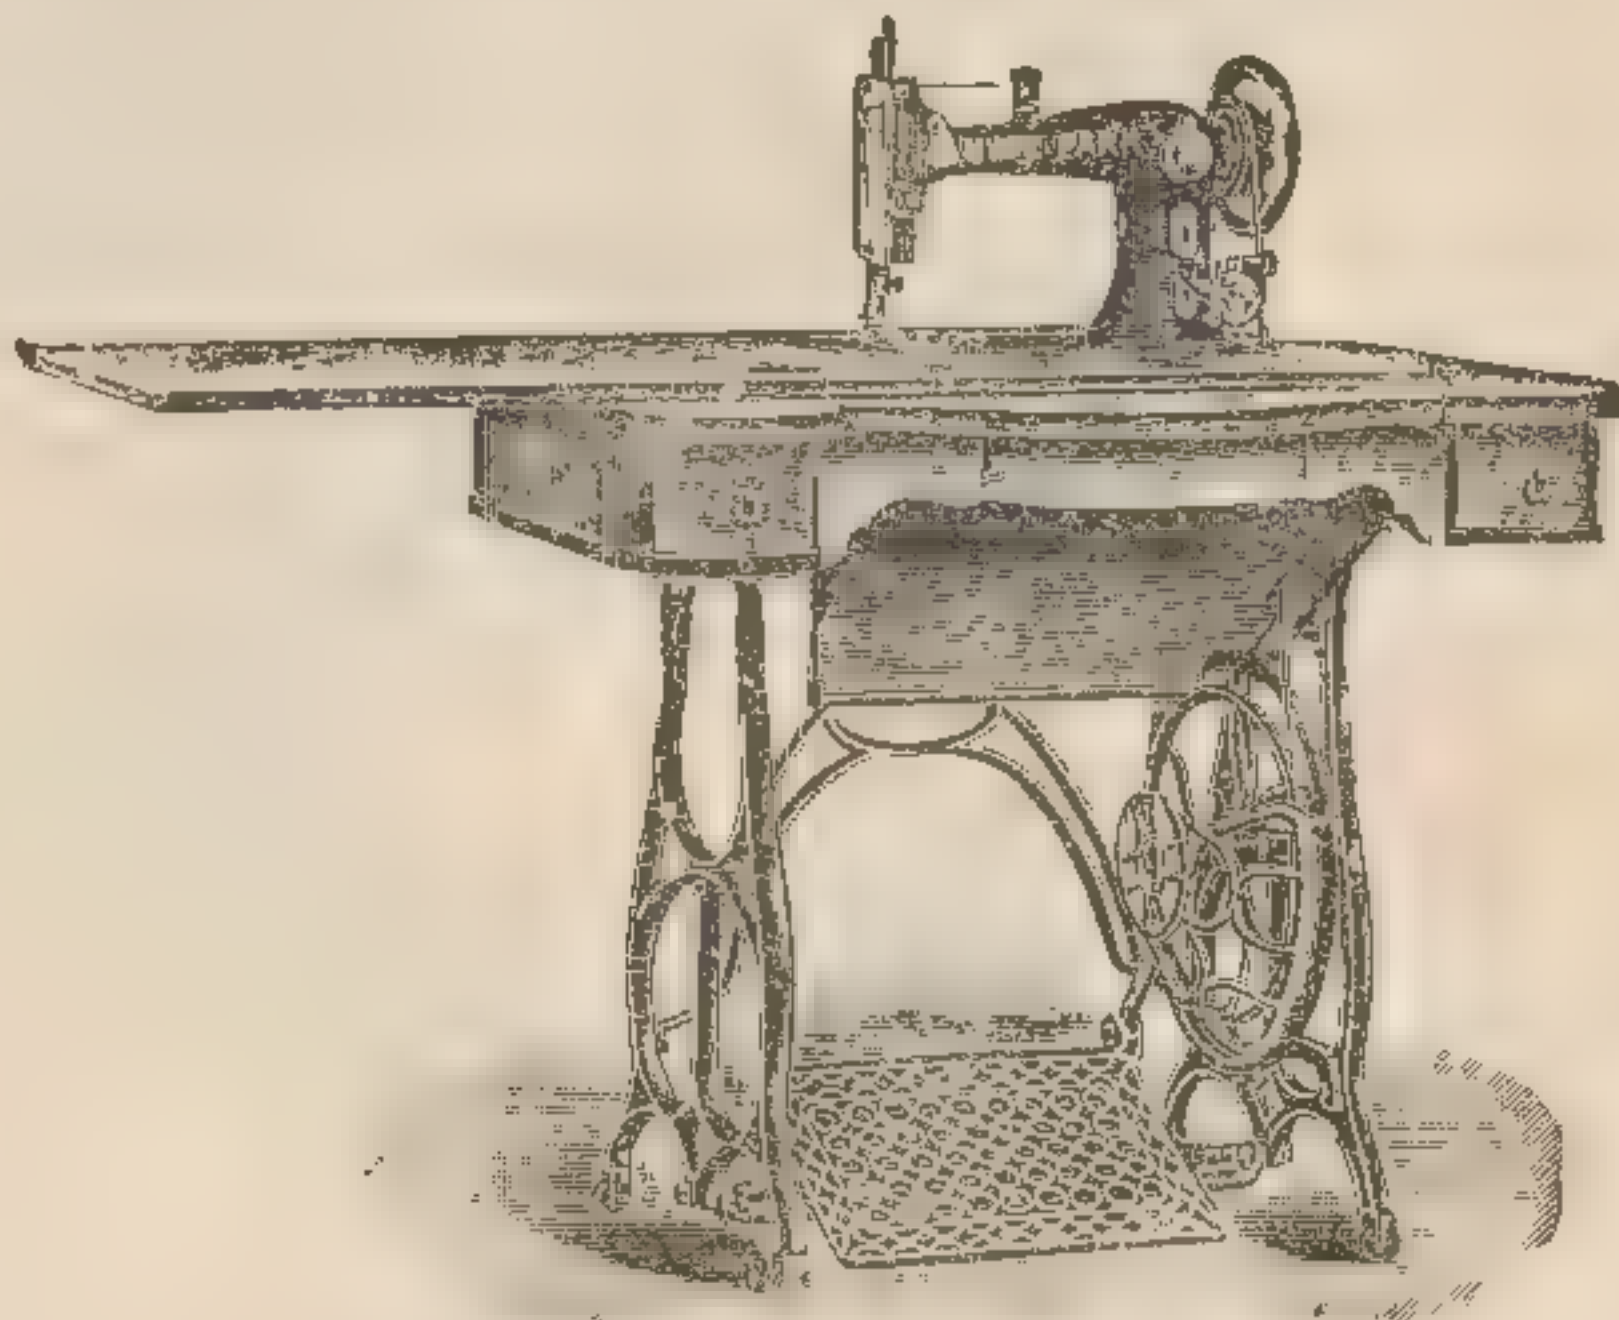

The Hyde Park Sewing Machine is a new model, and one which we feel will rapidly win favor with the purchaser.

It is a fine piece of furniture, being handsomely designed with two full length drawers fitted with lock and key, a beautifully curved drop front piece, compactly constructed, and easily operated.

This machine is a lockstitch, having an exceedingly high arm, and in every respect it is modern, well equipped with improvements and labor saving devices, as the following list will show:—

Improved Disc Tension with Automatic Release.
Steel Forged Double-width Positive Four Motion Feed.
Steel Capped Needle Bars and Presser Bars.
Improved Automatic Stitch Regulator on Face of Arm.
Automatic Bobbin Winder.
Positive Cam driven take-up.
Gear Releasing Device.
Vibrating Shuttle & Oil Hardened Bessemer Steel Working Parts

It is equipped with a device which automatically re-belts the machine when the head is raised to position; the pitman, which is made of steel and is unbreakable, has non-binding connections at either end. The steel attachments are carefully packed, the full set consisting of Tucker, Ruffler, Braider, Binder, Five Hemmers of different widths, Shirring slide, Feller, Quilter, Cloth Guide, Six Bobbins, Twelve Needles, Two Screwdrivers, Filled Oil Can, and Illustrated Book of Directions.

CASH.

Foy's usual cash system for these up-to-date machines should be particularly attractive to you, as offering a saving on your purchase. Under a time-payment system these machines would cost you more than double the price we quote for cash.

We have been to great trouble in searching the world's markets for a thoroughly reliable and up-to-date sewing machine at a price within the reach of everyone. The result has proved very satisfactory, and we can safely say these machines are the best and cheapest in Australia to-day.

The machines are fully guaranteed by the manufacturers against breakage due to faulty construction, and we are authorised to make good any breakage arising from this cause for a period of five years.

THE CASE of this new model is different in construction and appearance to all others. Its severe but beautiful lines appeal instantly to the discriminating eye. It is provided with four full-length drawers, two at each side, each fitted with a lock and key, thus keeping the contents secure from loss.

The massive, beautifully designed drop front piece easily operated by means of the steel cable automatic lifting device, and the hand rubbed mirror finish of the entire quarter sawed case, materially add to the beauty of the design.

THE SEWING HEAD forms the matic release, Steel Forged Double-width Positive Four Motion Feed, Steel Capped Needle Bar and Presser Bar, improved Automatic Stitch Regulator on face of arm, Automatic Bobbin Winder, Positive Cam-driven Take-up, Gear Releasing Device, Oscillating Shuttle and Oil Hardened Bessemer Steel Working Parts.

THE NEW BALL-BEARING STAND is the acme of simplicity, noiselessness, and speed, the accurately ground steel balls being encased in improved retainers, where they revolve independently of each other. The new steel fitment has non-binding, easily adjusted connections at either end.

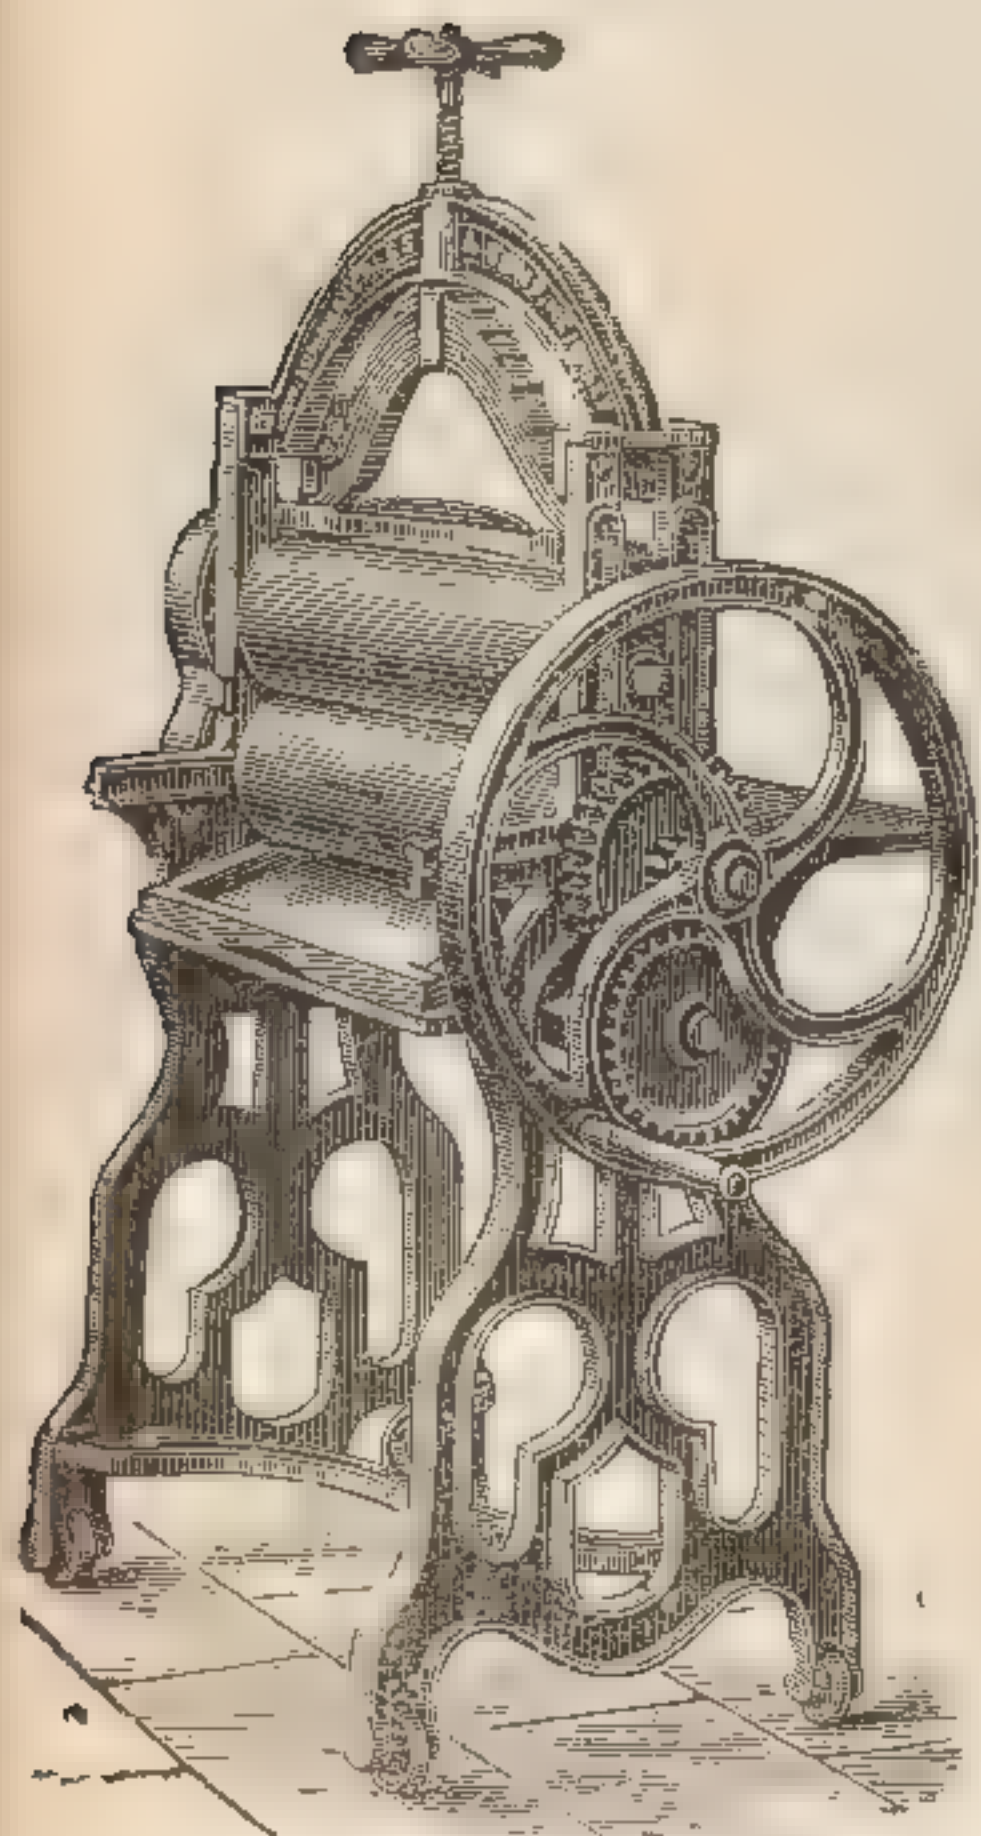

The steel attachments are carefully packed, and comprise the following very complete list:—Tucker, Ruffler, Gatherer, Braider, Binder, Five Hemmers of different widths, Shirring Slide Feller, Quilter, Cloth Guide, Six Bobbins, Twelve Needles, Filled Oil Can, and Illustrated Book of Directions.

This machine can be had in either the Rotary or Vibratory principle of construction. The Rotary is entirely free from vibration and noise, and may be geared higher, and runs one-third faster than a Vibratory machine. Accessibility to the lower stitch forming mechanism is a particularly strong feature.

If ordering a carpet, state if it is to be made up with or without a border, and also which way the widths should run. By carefully following the above directions, you can depend on securing a perfect fitting carpet.
